

KONE CARE FOR LIFE™

TOP OF CAR BALUSTRADE

Falls from height are a major workplace hazard which can result in severe injury or death. As the top of an elevator is used for performing maintenance, it can be treated as an elevated work platform. Like all elevated work platforms, the top of elevator car should have protection for the technicians against a fall from height. The industry standard for elevators is to install a car top balustrade with kick board.

While this change in legislation is not retrospective, KONE are striving to help you and your visitors be as safe as possible and limit your liability. In an effort to ensure all elevators are fitted with this safety critical device, KONE are providing the following discounted package for your consideration and action.
